Silent Home-Retreat & online-Retreat

We are very happy to offer a very special retreat in September at the House of Madhubhan.

For the first time, Soham's House Madhubhan – his home – will be available for a limited number of guests to have Satsang in this beautiful environment.

One Satsang will be offered daily in the morning and one in the evening, as well as one meditation. In addition to on-site participation, it will be possible to attend live online.

During the days together in Madhubhan the participants are invited to join the organization of the daily routine and the supply for approximately two hours/day in and for the collectivity. In this retreat, we consciously want to experience collectivity and share this experience mindfully.

Soham is looking forward to meeting you. The joy of self-enquiry and the deep desire for self-knowledge will make this time very valuable.

Limited number of participants, please register in time.
